the Treasury Department to apply the surplus revenues of the Government to the purchase of United States bonds that are not yet due on which, however, it would be necessary to continue the payment of interest. Referring to this subject to-day, Secretary Sherman authorizes the following statement: Considered as a purely business operation, it is highly beneficial and profitable to the Government. The bonds are not due, and the Government has no power to pay them off except with the consent of the owners. The following statement of the existing profit to the Government on the purchase of these bonds is based upon the price paid at the last weekly purchase of $3,000,000, taking a $100 per cent bond, July 1, 1880, and an example of a $100 per cent bond of $100, $100 interest already due and premium, $4.00. It reflected at maturity the Government will pay face value, $100, and pay interest, $4.00, for the last $3,000,000 purchased this profit, amounting to $30,000, and on the $30,000,000 of these bonds which have been purchased, the Government will have a loss which would otherwise have lain idle in the Treasury, the net interest saved is $4,124,653.

MINNESOTA.

A LACK OF POLITICAL ACTIVITY.

Special Correspondence of The Chicago Tribune.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 23.—No movements for Members of Congress have now been made by both parties in all the districts of Minnesota, and the fall campaign has officially begun. There are no striking evidences of political activity, however, outside of the First District, where Dunnell is making a vigorous stamping tour, aided by speakers from this and other States. The State Republican Committee held a meeting in St. Paul some ten days ago, at which the fact that there is to be a Presidential election this fall was recognized. The meetings of this respectable body are not usually distinguished by the exhibition of fervent activity. The Chairman is a genial old gentleman, who runs a stage-line from Bismarck to the Black Hills, and takes a good deal more interest in the transmission of passengers to the new "El Dorado" than in the transportation of voters to the polls at an outlay. The other members do not mind an occasional visit to St. Paul, and a social reunion in pleasant hotel-parlors; but have conservative views about laborious and costly exertions in raising money and getting speakers. The meetings virtually resolved that it was the duty of Minnesota Republicans to raise the banner high, and inscribe the names of Garfield and Arthur in letters of light scintillating from the dazzling lustre of 30,000 Republican majority in November; and then adjourned and went to their hotel-rooms, law-practice and business.

CUREYING FAVOR.

SEATOR BAYARD DEFENDING A MURDER OF UNION SOLDIERS.—THE NOBLE CONFEDERATE OF THE NORTH EXPLAINED BY SENATOR BAYARD.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The Tribune has the following account of the Democratic rally at Anderson, S. C.:

"The Democratic rally at Anderson was a greater success in point of numbers than at Columbia. There was a larger processional, and the marchers were about 150 Red Shirts. Mr. Bayard delivered his Columbia speech almost verbatim. He introduced a new feature, however, in the shape of a speech next day, in which he said, 'I do not take the public into my confidence. There was a rattling mass-meeting in Minneapolis last week, at which Andrew Johnson, Dennis and Conkling, J. G. Brown of Michigan, communicated some sympathetic enthusiasm to local orators; and there is to be a similar meeting in St. Paul this week.' These are the words of Mr. Bayard, who was so anxious to buy stocks of goods. Indeed, the Democratic party has not made the discovery which the Republicans made ten days ago, that their bill will not be passed.

"After this, Mr. Bayard at once found himself in full accord with his audience. He came forward with a broad smile, even in his life, and I venture to say that if he stays much longer in South Carolina he will become imbued with the spirit of the movement, which prevails among the Democrats, and the party will be a protest against the solid Democracy and its tyrannical sway. Mr. Bayard said these signs were to him a sufficient proof of the reason to a party which is as foul as treason to the country."

"He went over his hard money argument again, and was again roundly applauded. He was interrupted by a roar between a Red Shirt and a policeman, and nearly half his audience went off to see the fun. The intelligent voters of Anderson were inferior to the mass of the people, and were easily led astray. Mr. Bayard's side, was he said, utterly absurd, and he charged that the Government in finding them guilty of murder by a court martial, presented over 1000 cases of the most flagrant oppression. He himself, prompted by the spirit of mercy, applied for and obtained a writ of habeas corpus, and the court took charge of the men who were soon paraded by President Lincoln."

"He came forward with a broad smile, even in his life, and I venture to say that if he stays much longer in South Carolina he will become imbued with the spirit of the movement, which prevails among the Democrats, and the party will be a protest against the solid Democracy and its tyrannical sway. Mr. Bayard said these signs were to him a sufficient proof of the reason to a party which is as foul as treason to the country."

"He went over his hard money argument again, and was again roundly applauded. He was interrupted by a roar between a Red Shirt and a policeman, and nearly half his audience went off to see the fun. The intelligent voters of Anderson were inferior to the mass of the people, and were easily led astray. Mr. Bayard's side, was he said, utterly absurd, and he charged that the Government in finding them guilty of murder by a court martial, presented over 1000 cases of the most flagrant oppression. Our Captain immediately ordered the steamer Brazilian to cast off the towing hawsers, and having all sail immediately, he ported the end of the rope over his before the wind, and made a good eeling to southward, thus avoiding a great disaster. When the Brazilian spoke the City of Chester 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, the wind was from the westward, and the sea and two hawsers and a chain cable were broken in endeavoring to turn her head round."

THE LAND-SLIP AT NAINITAL.

BOMBAY, Sept. 23.—The following are the details of the land-slip at Nainital, Bengal, which resulted in the death of a number of British officers and soldiers and other persons: Rain began falling heavily Friday and poured heavily until Saturday afternoon, when the gauge showed a fall of twenty-five inches in forty hours. The effect of such an enormous mass of water pouring down into a confined settlement, which is simply a basin formed by a circle of hills, can be imagined.

All the roads were cut to pieces. In the course of time it was rumored that the Victoria Hotel was in a dangerous state. The alarm was given to visitors in the hotel, who took shelter elsewhere before the building fell. About thirty natives were buried in the ruins. The police and a band of laborers and soldiers were quickly on the spot. About noon there was a sudden roar and rumbling, followed by vast clouds of dust, and while the noise still, the water rose in a massive wave towards the weir, when an enormous land-slide came down, burying the hotel and the band of rescuers with the dead. The Victoria Hotel is said to be the Society would all be in danger of being buried.

EX-QUEEN ISABELLA.

MADRID, Sept. 23.—When Queen Isabella came to Madrid it was rumored that she would return to Paris immediately upon the accomplishment of Queen Christina. Her prolonged stay caused much comment, and it is rumored that she shows particular regard on the one hand to Marquesa de Concha, and Gen. P. Prendes, and other chiefs of the dynastic Liberal opposition, while ladies crowded her saloon, and that on the other all her servants in the aristocracy and in the army flock to the Palaces as they have done since the restoration. When she drives out with her son to witness the bull fights on Sunday even the lower classes cheer her. Some say she does all this to spite her successor, but the real object of Isabella's prolonged stay is that she is pressing her long-standing claims on the Treasury, and the Cabinet is in a fit. She is entitled to over $1,000,000 in capital, besides years of accumulated interest on old arrears due her by her father. El Diario Vespertino.

SOLDIERS' HOMES.

Special Dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.

DAYTON, O., Sept. 23.—For the past three days the Board of Managers of the Soldiers' Homes have been in session at the Central Home, Dayton, and completed business and left for Milwaukee Home this evening. The meeting has been of great interest, because the first of the new Board appointed by the last Congress. There are nine members appointed, and the President, Chief Justice, and Secretary of War are members ex-officio. Most of the Board were appointed by the members of the Society, and all are Democrats. Col. Martin, Gen. K. C. Martin, and Gen. L. S. Martin are earlier appointees, and Gen. Martin is the only representative of the Board. Owing to the fact of its new organization, a general change was expected in officers of the Home at this meeting. Congressman McMahon, of this district, and local Democratic politicians have been bringing all influences they could control to bear on the managers to bring about this issue. It has been openly asserted here by McMahon and other prominent Democrats that the old officers of the Home would be removed and new men who were good Democrats appointed in their places. Chairman McKinley, of the Democratic State Executive Committee, and several other prominent Democrats have been in the city during the week to use their influence. The present officers of the Home were nearly all appointed by the Board at the organization of the Homes, without regard to politics, and none of them have ever been charged with incompetency or inability in any shape. Col. Brown, Governor of the Dayton Home, is an old soldier from New York, and lost an arm at Cedar Mountain. He is a Democrat, but has been strictly impartial in his administration, refusing to take any part in political meetings, even to vote. This has been the source of much dissatisfaction to men here who have sought to use him, especially to McMahon. Among all in this vicinity he is regarded for his personal qualities and admirable management of this Home, which now contains over 4,000 veterans. The object of McMahon was to Col. Brown removed, and the matter was warmly discussed by the Board, Chief Justice, Wife, Col. Harris, and Col. Martin in opposition to the change. Col. Martin's vote was with the Board in his efforts against any changes for political purposes, and that of Col. Brown in particular. He voted against these efforts, and will continue while a member of the Board. The Board, however, voted to remove him. This occasioned a compromise, the Democratic managers not caring to proceed against the opposition. They appointed a Board of Managers of the Soldiers' Homes, and appointed Col. Brown to this, and put in his place Gen. Patrick, of Cincinnati, and Dr. C. C. Clegg, of Milwaukee. The Board of Managers of the Milwaukee Home, and appointed Gen. Sharpe, of New York. Dr. Weaver, Surgeon of the Dayton Home, was also removed, and Dr. Stevens, a Democrat, of Marion, was appointed in his place. The Board of Managers of the Dayton Home was removed and the new Board made purely on political grounds, as there is no other cause for them. Gen. Patrick is now in the city, and all the changes will go in effect to-day, as was voted.

THE STATE INSURANCE CO.

The business of winding up the affairs of the bankrupt State Insurance Company has progressed so far as to order an assessment of 10 per cent on the stock of the Company; but a responsible position for review was filed by Toman & King, which will have the effect of delaying the final settlement for a long time to come.

The petition sets up that the Company was organized in 1864 at Freeport, and reorganized in 1888 on the cooperative plan with a capital of $100,000.

On Sept. 13, 1871, there had been issued $100,000 of State stock at $500 each, on which 10 per cent had been paid. At the last-mentioned date a meeting was held, when it was resolved to reduce the capital stock to $500,000, and to make it full paid, or have the old stock reorganized for a sum-fifth the amount issued. Under this arrangement 18,625 shares were canceled and 10,000 new shares in their place.

Those who made the exchange, who made the exchange, claimed they were released from any further liability on their original shares. The Company and some enterprising attorneys began a search into its condition, which resulted in a suit for reorganization, and a judgment of $100,000 in favor of the claimants. The whole number of claims proved up was about $500,000, but $220,000 were expunged.

On Sept. 13, 1871, no dividends have as yet been paid. There are still about 5,000 of claims which have not yet been paid, and which are now being investigated to be fraudulent.

After it was discovered that the sums were not paid on the whole debt, the Company filed a petition for an assessment on the stockholders, setting up that the liabilities of the Company in December, 1871, were as follows:

Total Liabilities	$100,000
Capital stock were	$25,000.00
Bank estate	3,000.00
Cash in bank	3,000.00
Miscellaneous	100.00
	$100,000

Leaving an excess of liabilities of $100,000 which would have to be met by assessment and stockholders.

Unpaid claims which it is estimated to be $40,000.

MRS. HARRIS'
Who the Real Lady Is, and Who the Pretender Is Not.

Social Correspondence of The Chicago Tribune.
510 District Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis. The 7th inst., from Mrs. S. S. Harris, whose death here to-night from pains resulting from a carriage accident was telegraphed to THE TRIBUNE, has lived in this vicinity for a year, during which time
she has made a small circle of female intimate friends, and has been a frequent visitor
with Miss Miriam Coles Harris, author of "Ruleledge," and other popular novels. The same has been entertained by the book-sellers from whom she obtained copies of the Harris books at cost-prices for sale and distribution. The author of "Rulledge" is a woman another novel, whose unpublished manuscript was found among her papers after death, with the mortality-table, "Sir H. B.," etc.

The curious thing is that this manuscript was written by persons living in St.
Paul, Minn., who, in some cases, knew Harris, to be in her handwriting, and as genuine production. These persons are convinced that Mrs. S. S. Harris is not Miriam Coles Harris, and that the manuscript is intended to light facts in her real history and sustain their assertions. She first appeared at Hudson, Wis., last September, in the role of a literary lady of means, and then, in the course of some weeks, became the acquaintance of several ladies of the place who admitted her pretensions and made a small lion of her. She developed some eccentricities, the most striking
of which was a passion for driving spirited horses.

She came from Hudson to St. Paul some weeks ago, and boarded at the leading hotel
there, paying her usual price, and the expenses of a lady of wealth and culture. She sided to her reputation for eccentricity in the performance that set the tongues of ladies, becoming alarmed, left the carriage
and took the stables alone, when the horses
had been running wild, and, in the dinning
room, laying before her plate, Saturday the
day she received her first audience.

Her companions were more acquaintances, whose only wish after reception was to conceal their names from her, and afterwards went to drive with her. The horses were then seen to be out of control, becoming alarmed, left the carriage
and took the stables alone, when the horses
had been running wild, and, in the dinning
room, laying before her plate, Saturday the
day she received her first audience.
